Volunteer Spotlight

LOUISE FINGER was born and raised in Albemarle County with lots of siblings, dogs, cats, and horses. She studied biology and natural resources at Humboldt State University in Arcata, California. Louise moved back to Charlottesville 23 years ago, and now lives in the mountains of western Albemarle with “the best three dogs and three cats of all time.” She is the stream restoration biologist with the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries, primarily working on rivers and streams in Central and Western Virginia.

Louise has been a volunteer with the CASPCA on and off for the past 18 years. She has been an active volunteer for two years now and, during this time, has completed 550 hours of service! Louise is a dedicated, experienced dog walker, who is always willing to help train new dog walker volunteers, and does so with a friendly, positive attitude. Over the past few months, in addition to her regular weekly shifts, she has been coming in almost daily when her schedule permits – Louise is truly dedicated to getting as many dogs out for walks as possible.

When not working or walking dogs at the CASPCA, she loves to ride her mountain bike on rocky ridgeline trails. Louise says, “There is nothing more gratifying to me than sharing time and love with CASPCA dogs and being a small part of this inspiring community of volunteers and staff!”

STEVE STEARNS, a Kansas Jayhawk, spent a 47-year career in information technology. With degrees in electrical engineering from Kansas University and MIT, he first worked in 1966 for Bell Labs before and after the breakup of the Bell System in 1983. In 1995, he moved to Charlottesville to work for UVA’s Medical Center, where he managed its computer center. In 2006, he moved to UVA’s academic side and finished his career as a project manager for the construction of UVA’s first dedicated data center.

Steve retired from UVA on Friday, February 1, 2013. The next day, he attended a CASPCA volunteer orientation session and socialized his first CASPCA cat two days later. He recently celebrated his five-year volunteer anniversary! He’s cared for dogs and cats his entire adult life. He is drawn to cats because of their independence and their insistence on humans gaining their trust. He currently lives with three rescues, one of which may have set a record for remaining in its Safe Room: over three months. Today, Skimble (dubbed Stenny when he came close to being declared a barn cat while at the CASPCA) trusts only Steve but now roams the house with his mates, Izzy and Inara. If he could live his life again, Steve would be a cat veterinarian.

ANNE & TOM WILD started volunteering at the CASPCA in 2008 after they moved to Charlottesville from Houston, where they were involved in fostering with a local shelter. Here, they began socializing in the cat rows, dog walking, working onsite events, and helping with the Voices for Animals feral cat spay-neuter clinics. Anne and Tom have fostered hundreds of cats/kittens in their time at the CASPCA. They feel a real sense of accomplishment in working with an animal that is sick, recovering from surgery, or just antisocial, to help them along the way to finding a home. In addition to fostering, Anne and Tom now mainly volunteer in the CASPCA clinic. They spend the majority of their weekly shifts ensuring instruments are sterilized and ready for surgery. They recently shared the following: “We really love working with the staff in surgery and intake. It can be hectic, but if we can help things run a little more smoothly, it will hopefully free up staff to handle the animals. We’re so impressed that with the number of animals that pass through this facility, the staff always finds the time to treat them all as individuals.”

From the Director

Angie Gunter
Executive Director

I couldn't be happier to be at the helm of this incredible organization. My greatest passion is animal welfare, and I'm particularly invested in the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA. For starters, I have five dogs and one rabbit all from this organization, and they are each so special to me. I have served as a volunteer, board member, development director, and now executive director of the CASPCA.

I'm incredibly proud of this organization for leading the way in animal welfare. In 2006, under the leadership of then executive director Susanne Kogut, we became one of the first in the country to achieve No Kill status, and were recognized by esteemed animal-welfare group Best Friends Animal Society as the largest community to achieve No Kill status since San Francisco.

- We've spayed/neutered nearly 61,000 animals to reduce pet overpopulation.
- Nearly 31,000 animals have found loving homes in the past decade.
- We have an average live release rate of 95%.

BUT there's still so much work to be done. Every day nearly 5,500 cats and dogs are killed in America's shelters. This number doesn't include approximately 2,000 that are euthanized each day for incurable illness or insurmountable behavior problems, according to Best Friends Animal Society. In 2016, according to the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, nearly 38,000 dogs and cats were euthanized. This is a staggering number and simply unacceptable. It's an ethical and moral dilemma, and we must put a stop to it. It's up to us to be their voices and advocates.

Best Friends Animal Society made a declaration in 2017 to become a No Kill nation by 2025, and the Virginia Federation of Humane Societies has a goal of being the first state to achieve this status. I intend to make sure the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA is at the forefront of saving the lives of animals. I want to ensure that we lead this charge by targeting designated shelters in the state and beyond that have high euthanasia rates and helping them realize the same lifesaving success we've achieved. This will be accomplished through transporting them to and from our shelter for spay/neuter procedures as well as other needed medical procedures and transferring animals from shelters that have limited space.

In 2016, thanks to a challenge grant by the Perry Foundation and our generous community, we raised the money for our Compassionate Care-A-Van. We've had it now for over six months and already it's proved to be a game-changer in helping us save animals, transporting them from Louisa County on a weekly basis and all the way from Houston and Atlanta; it's proving to be one of the smartest investments in saving lives that we've made.

But let's face it, who's really being saved? Animals give us so much, whether it's a walking partner or a snuggle buddy, and ask for so little in return. They are truly members of our family. At the CASPCA, we care for every cat and dog brought to us – none are turned away. Your generous contributions go toward critical care for a dog struck by a car, or a cat in need of an operation, or toward finding the best possible homes for the many wonderful animals we care for. You can rest assured that your contributions are literally lifesavers!

We are only as strong as the community we serve, and that's why we are grateful to all of you for your shared commitment to making this world a better place for our many animal friends. Thank you for all that you do to allow us to do this lifesaving work.

Employee Spotlight

Pam Holden

Cat Care Specialist

Pam has been a part of the CASPCA team for 20 years as both a volunteer and a staff member, and is an integral part of the organization. She is a staff member whose dedication is unparalleled. She recently shared the following reflections on her time at the shelter:

“I love the ‘high’ we all feel when an animal is adopted into a loving home.”

– Pam Holden

Q: What is the best part of your job?

A: The best part of my job is working with the wonderful animals; to be able to provide them with loving care and a safe and warm environment is a blessing. It is more a ministry than a job. The CASPCA staff is amazing – we are all like a family.

Q: What motivates you to continue working at the CASPCA after your many years here?

A: I love the “high” we all feel when an animal is adopted into a loving home!

Q: What do you feel has been your greatest contribution so far?

A: I feel that my greatest contribution to the CASPCA has been the sheer number of years working and volunteering at the shelter. It truly has been a neat experience to watch the organization grow!

Q: What is one of your favorite memories since working here?

A: When we moved from the old shelter to the new shelter, it was an amazing landmark! Moving from a converted chicken coop to the current state-of-the-art building was incredible. The Charlottesville-Albemarle community has been so incredibly supportive – we could not do what we do without them!

One of my favorite memories is the story of Beau. He came to the CASPCA as a feral dog that had been living in the woods! He was a sweet dog that we worked with every day for almost two years, socializing him and training him. It was so gratifying when we found him an amazing home with a young woman on a farm. Beau even helped save one of her horses. The horse had become sick and fallen, and Beau warned her and brought her to the horse!

Q: What do you hope to accomplish in 2018?

A: Looking to the future, I hope to gain more expertise in dealing with frightened cats and feral cats to be able to better prepare them for adoption.

A SAVE STORY

Casper

The story of Casper is a testament to how animals with special needs, requiring extra care and patience, can bring an enormous amount of love, joy, and bonding companionship to their families.

Casper is a senior white Boxer that arrived at the CASPCA in 2015 as a stray with infections in his eyes, three puncture wounds on his upper backside, and two large lumps on his thorax and scrotum. In addition, he had several fractured teeth and suffered from periodontal disease. The lumps ended up being mast cell skin cancer tumors. After Casper's stray hold ended, he underwent surgery to have the tumors removed. Afterwards, he spent time in critical care recovery, where excess drinking and urination were noted. It was determined to be behavioral rather than medical. He was cleared for adoption while awaiting his dental surgery.

Not long before Casper arrived at the CASPCA, Cherie and Ken Reid, in Geneva, New York, had lost their ten-year-old white Boxer, also named Casper, to thyroid cancer. After the great loss, Casper's sibling Hannah became very depressed and "lost her spark." The Reids decided to find Hannah a new companion and began their search with local Boxer rescues. They also searched Petfinder.com, and lo and behold, they found a white Boxer – ironically also named Casper – a few states to the south, at the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA!

The Reids called the CASPCA and learned of Casper's recent surgery and medical history, including his incontinence issue. Their hearts sank when they learned about the mast cell tumors, due to the recent loss of their first Casper to cancer.

Despite this news, Cherie and Ken decided to take a chance and travel to Virginia to meet Casper. With their dog

Hannah, they made the long trip from New York to Virginia. The meet-and-greet between Hannah and Casper went well, and Casper was officially adopted and on his way to the Finger Lake district of New York with his new family! The Reids drove straight through, arriving at their house at 2AM on a Saturday morning in October with snow on the ground. They realized they were totally unprepared for the incontinence issue. The blankets that lined their vehicle were used to line the carpets in their house. The Reids realized that Casper did not just leak when he slept; he also leaked no matter what he was doing— sleeping, sitting, or standing. It was a constant problem.

The Reids tried a variety of products made for incontinent male dogs. The disposable diapers they initially purchased worked, but they were expensive! Through a lot of trial and error, the Reids found reusable, washable, cloth belly bands that they lined with disposable pads to absorb and prevent leakage. Fortunately, Casper has a good temperament and leaves his belly bands alone. The belly band with disposable pads has allowed the Reid family to live with Casper's incontinence. They recently shared that they "change a lot of 'diapers' during the day, but Casper is worth it!" He is even allowed to nap on the blanket-covered sofa!

Casper is a lucky dog to have been adopted by such a loving, patient family. The Reids feel like they are the lucky ones and that the adoption of Casper was meant to be!

Scratch

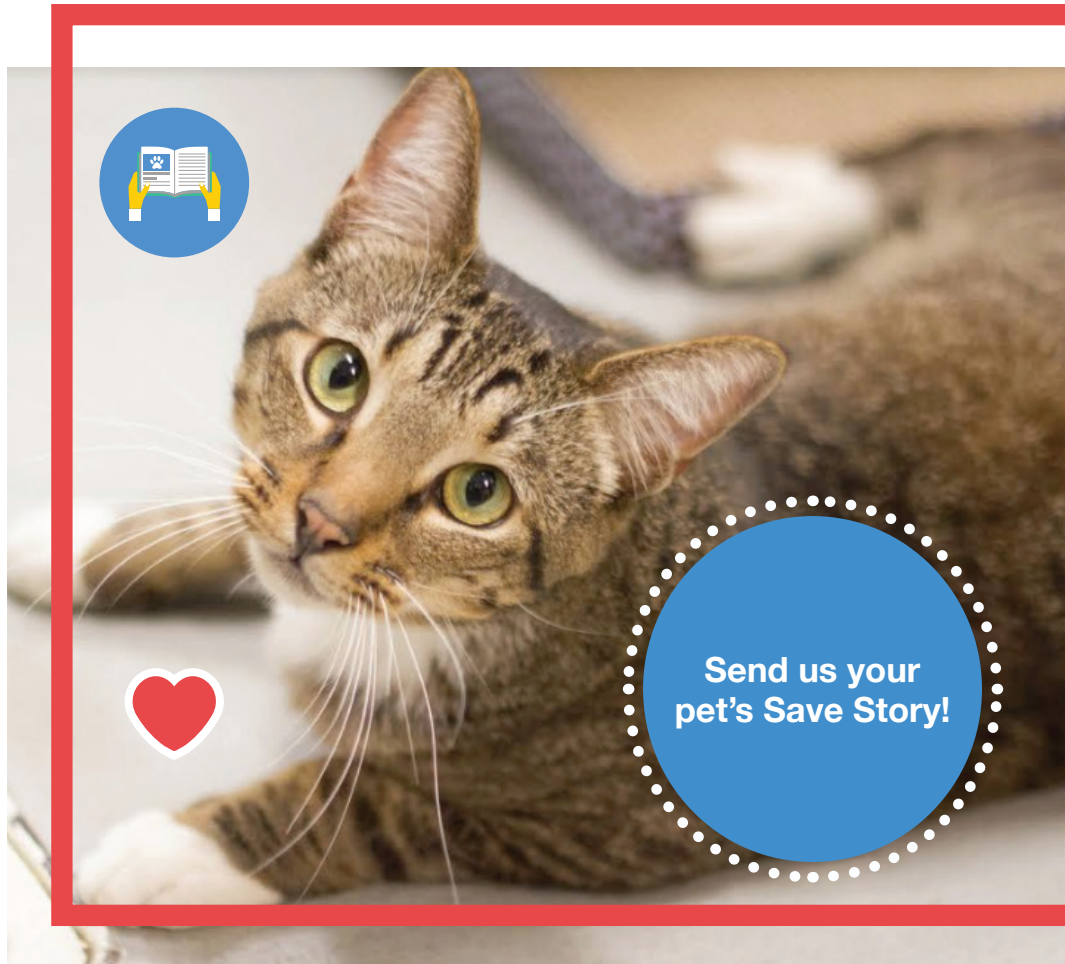

I was brought to Charlottesville as a Hurricane Irma rescue. Even though I was in a safe place, I disliked living in a shelter. I was so miserable that I acted out against other cats and even the staff. I could only be let out when the other cats were in their cages. The staff wasn't sure I could find a forever family. And then everything changed when a navy veteran found me and started visiting me, and we became friends.

“Scratch has defied every expectation I was told to anticipate. I could not have found a better furry companion. Scratch has become family. Thank you, CASPCA.”

— Phil Lawton, veteran

Phil (my human) was looking for a cat on the advice of his doctors at the VA. He found me at the CASPCA the week I was cleared for adoption. He started spending time with me, trying to build trust with me. At first, I ignored him; but every time he came to visit, he had a couple of treats and a toy for me to play with. I decided I liked it when he came to visit me. I didn't know it, but he was making changes to give me a home and was reading books to learn how to be a good cat parent. It seemed like a long time until adoption day, and there were many visits while he worked things out for my arrival.

While lots of cats take their time and need to be introduced to their new home in stages, I was out of my carrier in minutes and exploring contentedly. I knew right away that I was HOME.

Phil spent all weekend with me making sure I was ok. He has done many things to make me feel safe and loved. I like to climb and jump up to high places. With a couple of leaps, I could get on top of the cabinets, therefore, he decided I needed a big, tall cat tree. I supervised him while he built it. He even attached it to a coffee table for added height, so now I have the best vantage point in my apartment. He also made a cover for the stove so that I don't burn my paws. MEOW!

We are still getting all of the kinks worked out between us, but for the most part, I am one very lucky and content cat.

My name at the CASPCA was Levi, but Phil named me SCRATCH because I was part of his new life in Charlottesville. He had moved to Charlottesville only three months before he met me. He and I are both “starting from scratch!” I like my little crinkle balls the best, and I LOVE CATNIP. I also like to spend most of the night on the top of my tree and then jump on Phil's bed in the early morning. It's hard to explain, but sometimes I sense when he has troubling memories from the war, and that's when I come over and purr for him, and we get through it together.

3. Choose from a great selection of animals.
4. Adopt a pet who has received great care.
5. Skip the demanding "puppy or kitten phase" and take advantage of adopting an adult animal.
6. Help stop cruelty in mass breeding outfits.
7. Have a lifetime resource with shelter staff and volunteers. Be part of the CASPCA "family" for life!
8. Have the opportunity to encourage others to adopt animals from the CASPCA.

Did you know that 5,500* cats and dogs are euthanized in United States shelters daily? This number does not include the additional 2,200* that are euthanized for medical and behavior issues. Adopting from the CASPCA will help us continue our no kill mission and ensure we continue helping overcrowded shelters work towards becoming no kill along with us!

If you are not able to ADOPT, consider FOSTERING for the CASPCA!

Hundreds of animals receive a second chance thanks to the love and compassion of our incredible network of foster families. Support from animal lovers like you is needed for us to continue to be a No Kill community. Foster home candidates include kittens and puppies who are too young to be spayed or neutered; nursing mothers; animals recovering from surgery or illness and animals that need extra training and socialization. Kristen_web Fostering is flexible—it can fit your schedule and talents. If you are interested, attend a Foster Training Session. Training is offered on the second Saturday of every month at 10 am at the shelter on Berkmar Drive, in our Basement Training Room. Training will last 45 minutes and will give you all the tools you need to be a successful foster parent.

Hurricane Relief

CASPCA's Regional and National Rescue Efforts

The Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA made rescue missions near and far in 2017. Days after Hurricane Harvey wrought the most destructive natural disaster in over a decade upon Texas and neighboring states, a team of CASPCA staff traveled to BARC, the city of Houston's only municipal animal shelter, to transport 70 abandoned animals back to the CASPCA for veterinary care and adoption. The rescue mission enabled BARC to make room for animals displaced by Hurricane Harvey.

Less than a week later, the CASPCA partnered with Best Friends Animal Society to help clear the shelter at the LifeLine Animal Project, Atlanta's local pound. The Compassionate Care-A-Van headed south and safely transported over 46 homeless animals back to the CASPCA, helping LifeLine Animal Project make room for hurricane-displaced animals. A few weeks later, CASPCA took in 25 additional animals from Houston. These animals were the most medically challenged, hard-to-place animals that had been living in an arena in Houston after Hurricane Harvey.

The CASPCA made rescue missions in surrounding counties as well, transporting animals from hoarding cases and from overcrowded shelters where the animals were in danger of being euthanized. A total of 227 animals were transferred from Virginia shelters to the CASPCA in 2017.

The CASPCA is fortunate to have the resources and ability to help animals in need in our region and nation. Without the Compassionate Care-A-Van, an amazingly dedicated foster family network, and a very generous and supportive community, the rescue missions would not be possible! The CASPCA looks forward to strengthening its partnerships with Best Friends Animal Society, Virginia Federation of Humane Societies, and the Humane Society of the United States to rescue even more animals in 2018!

Thanks, Pawtner!

Virginia National Bank has been an invaluable partner in our mission to save the homeless, sick, and neglected animals in our community. Their stewardship of the Pawtnership Program has helped us provide the very best care and services for the thousands of dogs and cats we see each year. They have sponsored our Pets-of-the-Month, made appearances at events, and their logo is highlighted in our lobby, and on our website. Thank you, Virginia National Bank, for your years of support! Please ask us about how your business or organization can become a CASPCA Pawtner.

5TH ANNUAL bow-WOW-walk

SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 2018

This K-9 2.5K supports the animals and lifesaving programs of the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA. A huge hit for both two-legged and four-legged friends, 2017 attracted more than 400 walkers and their pets. The 2018 walk kicks off at IX Art Park and winds through Charlottesville's historic downtown mall before returning to IX Art Park for a post-walk festival. The festival begins at 8:30AM and features human and doggie entertainment, a canine competition, treats for pups, and animal-friendly sponsors.

Visit caspca.org to register and for sponsor information!
